Upcoming Events in Welbeck Class

Dear parents and carers,

There are a few upcoming events that are happening in Welbeck class and some you may be able to support us with.

Wednesday 25th November

Mrs Kay will be making junk modelled instruments with the class on Wednesday afternoon with a Mexican theme. For this we have been collecting necessary recycling for the past month, but are just a few items short. If anybody has any egg boxes, cardboard tubes or cereal boxes (or anything of similar sizes in plastic or cardboard), could you please send them in with your child any time before next Wednesday afternoon.

December - Advent

We are making a large class advent calendar, as we are aware that unfortunately children may not have the Christmas experience this year that they are used to. For this we still require as many shoeboxes as you can spare, and any nice treats – such as edible goodies, small toys or activities – to place inside the boxes.

Each box will be decorated, with an advent number on for a child chosen at random to open each day of December. For boxes 19-30, the children will take the box home to open on the right date – if your child takes one of these boxes home then please either email or tweet a photo of them with their opened box!

Tuesday 15th December

On the afternoon of the final Tuesday we will be having an 'in-class bubble' Christmas Party, with music, karaoke, games, prizes and food! More information on this will be sent home nearer the time, but I will be asking the children what specific food they would like to the party to ensure minimal waste, with there being so few of us this year.

Thursday 17th December

On the afternoon of the final Thursday before the holidays, we will hold a whole school Christingle service, led by Revd. Richard Hanford and myself, children will make a Christingle orange to bring home and light. Parents will be invited to watch the service at the same time as the children – 13:30 – and it will work the same way as our virtual Harvest Festival.

Christmas Cards

Whole school information will be sent out in due course regarding a sensible way of sending Christmas cards this year, particularly between different bubbles.

If you have any queries, please never hesitate to ask, either on the field or via bgreenwood@cuckney.notts.sch.uk
